Policy

It is the responsibility of McDowell Technical Community College to monitor student progress and provide documentation for auditing purposes, and this includes students who are enrolled in non-traditional classes. Since distance education students are time or place bound, it is necessary to maintain specific standards similar to tracking the traditional, on-campus student.

This policy ensures that documentation of class membership in distance education occurs, and that MTCC staff provide a record of student attendance and show their progress in the course(s) they are enrolled in.
